RESPONSE TO MINUTE 16 - Service Manager Neighbourhoods

Minute Number	Response
16 Fly tipping	It should be noted that fly tipping by its very nature is difficult to prosecute, due to the criminal level of proof required and resource intensive. Some authorities employ designated community protection officers (Nottingham City and Gedling) We also follow advice and campaigns where possible from organisations such as APSE (Associate Public Service Excellence) and The Keep Britain Tidy group. Consideration in some local authorities is given to free bulky collections or one off special collections (as operated in Rushcliffe many years ago) but these are costly to operate both for collecting and disposal costs. We do have limited resources but where possible we will use our covert camera systems in known problem areas and have been running 'our eyes' are watching you campaign. It is also recognised that the closure or restricted operating hours of local tips could have an impact on fly tipping. In some areas duty of care checks are carried out on local business to check for the appropriate waste carrier and disposal licenses. The Keep Britain Tidy Group are currently campaigning for stiffer sentences following their study that showed, whilst the Magistrates can issue fines of up to £50,000 and/or a 12-month custodial sentence and Government views fly-tipping as a serious offence, but analysis of the actual fines issued in 2014/15 tells a very different story: 62% of fines issued for fly-tipping were less than £200, with 95% of fines less than £1,000.
